One of the weddings of the week will be that of Miss Florence Dreher and Mr. Charles Gillett Billings, which will take place next Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 723 Eleventh East street.

The week, which has been otherwise quite uneventful in society circles, closed yesterday with the large and brilliant tea given by Mrs. Kearns in honor of Miss Katherine Leonard. The handsome home was the scene of a brilliant assemblage of ladies, and the late hours of the day were very pleasantly spent in meeting and greeting the guest of honor, who will spend the summer in the city.

The house was decorated entirely in white and green, the spring effect being well carried out in everything. Throughout the spacious hall white lilacs were used in profusion with the feathery green of the plumosa. In the library white stocks with the green asparagus plumosa carried out the scheme, and a bunch of Malaga grapes surrounded with asparagus fern decorated a small table, which was covered with a lace cloth over green satin.

The dining room presented an especially pretty picture, having two tables for the serving of refreshments. The large table in the center of the room was covered with a cloth of the most exquisite cluny lace over green satin. In the center of this was an oval mound of bride's roses. Four handsome silver candelabra shaded with green lighted this board, and confections and all accessories carried out the same idea of green and white. At a smaller table, where were served salads and sandwiches, the same decorations prevailed, a low mass of ferns forming the centerpiece.

Receiving with Mrs. Kearns were Miss Leonard, Mrs. Jacob Bamberg, Mrs. Perry S. Heath. At the large table in the dining room Mrs. Frank Westcott and Miss Mary Kinney served, and at the smaller Mrs. William O'Brien presided. In the library where punch was served Miss Leta McMillan and Miss Dorothy Kinney were in charge. An orchestra in the upper landing furnished music throughout the hours, which were from 4 to 6, and about 300 guests called during the time.

recital, Friday afternoon, at Chaffee hall, that was one of the most delightful entertainments of the season. The hall was appropriately decorated in green foliage and pink carnations. In the various scenes the lady wore two exquisite gowns, one of pink mousseline de soie over pink tulle, and the second, a gown of white tulle, garnished with a hand-some and graceful young woman with a well-mannered voice. The program was in two parts, the first being a dramatic rendition of 'A Midsummer Night's Dream' by Shakespeare, which showed a marked talent for impersonation, there being not less than sixteen distinct characters. The interpretation was an evidence of its success. The second act of the program consisted of two numbers, the first a legend by Sir Alfred Lyall, throughout which Miss Snyder improvised musical accompaniment, proving herself a gifted musician; the second was a humorous and sentimental monologue, written by Mrs. Edna Chaffee Noble, entitled 'Ellen's Decision.' Miss Snyder, who is also studying music in the city, will also devote to the study of her profession. The excellence of the recital Friday is an assurance of success.
